ATHLETES OF THE YEAR

Jess Wallace and Mike Bradley are the HHSS Athletes of the Year. The award was announced at the annual athletic banquet held Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall in Haliburton. Wallace was honoured for her outstanding achievements as the most valuable player in senior field hockey, badminton, and volley ball. As well she received an award of excellence for highest athletic participation and a major athletic award. Bradley was honoured for his participation in senior football where he was awarded two most valuable player honours and a similar accolade in track and field.

Minden ready to welcome N. America's top choppers

Once again Minden is preparing to welcome lumber jacks and jills from across North America.

The occasion is the fifth annual Ontario Timbersport Championship. The event provides an opportunity to see some of the best in North America participate in a variety of competitions. Throughout the day spectators will be able to watch 16 different events including traditional competitions like axe throwing and pole climbing and more modern activities like modified chainsaw contests which Timberfest chairman Ted Anthon describes as, "a souped-up chain saw which melts through logs in less than two seconds."

The day begins at 9 a.m. with the axe throwing competition. Ceremonies to mark this year's event will take place at noon when Victoria/Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson will join Reeve Jeanne Anthon to officially welcome the spectators and competitors.

According to Ted Anthon, close to 50 competitors are expected this year, including last year's over-all champion Dave Jewett. "Dave holds several world records and we're looking forward to watching him in action again this year," Anthon said.

"In response to requests from the competitors we have added a new event this year," Anthon said. "We have included a women's Swede saw event to the line-up."

Competitors are expected from across Canada and the United States as well as one coming from New Zealand.

"This is a community event in which we welcome competitors from across the country to our village," Anthon added. "We couldn't do it without the support of our sponsors and the citizens of the surrounding area. In the past we have always received rave reviews from our competitors for the welcome they received here," he concluded.

Anyone interested in helping the organizers during the day is invited to attend a volunteers' meeting this Wednesday evening, 7:30 p.m. in the Anson, Hindon and Minden council chambers.

Drivers should note that Minden's Main Street, from the bank corner to the Novel Ideas Book Store corner, will be closed to traffic during the Saturday competitions.

A schedule and other details of the Minden Timbersport Festival can be found in a separate supplement included with this edition of The Times.

Lower taxes entice Galway ratepayers to look north

by Jerry Grozelle

Galway-Cavendish Township residents are ready to join Haliburton County if a group of 120 people who turned out for an emergency meeting Sunday at the Galway Hall is representative of fellow ratepayers.

More than 90 per cent of those present at the meeting were Galway residents (permanent and seasonal) and by the time the meeting was over they voted emphatically to pursue amalgamation with Haliburton County.

The emergency meeting was called in response to a Peterborough County proposal which was submitted to the provincial Ministry of Municipal Affairs. The proposal asks the province to force the Municipality of Galway-Cavendish to amalgamate with Harvey Township, a township to the east.

Peter Charters, president of the White Lake Ratepayers' Association and a strong proponent of a Galway-Cavendish (G-C) move to Haliburton County, predicts that a merger with

O'Reilly wins in a close contest

by Andrew Milne

Liberal incumbent John O'Reilly survived something of a squeaker last week.

The final unofficial vote came down to 18,093 votes for O'Reilly, versus 16,974 for Reform newcomer Pat Dunn, a difference of only 1,119 votes.

Trailing the leaders were PC candidate Lorne Chester, with 14,166, the NDP's Rick Denyer, with 3,524, and Canadian Action Party contender Charles Olito, with 501 votes.

O'Reilly's team, tallying the results in Lindsay as the votes came in, had a late night, and a tense first hour as early results see-sawed between the two leading candidates.

The first results, Minden's poll one, reported just before 10 p.m., putting O'Reilly slightly ahead of Dunn, at 103 votes to 83. By 10:15, however, with a few thousand votes counted, Dunn was leading by a slim margin of 50.

When the contest seemed finally resolved, shortly after midnight, and his challengers were en route to congratulate him, O'Reilly's comments roughly mirrored the national party's stance — he spoke of staying the course: deficit reduction as a priority, with some hope held out that the government might run a slightly more traditionally Liberal administration over the coming term.

"My main concerns are continued economic growth... the move towards fiscal responsibility, and making sure that Successful Liberal incumbent, John O'Reilly, left, accepted the best wishes of PC candidate Lorne Chester after the votes were tallied last Monday evening.

A male motorist was seriously injured Friday night, when his vehicle apparently left the highway and collided with a rock face. The incident occurred just west of Camarvon on Highway 118, around eight pm. The OPP were not available to identify the victim, as of press time. The victim's foot was pinned beneath the left rear wheel following the impact. Passers-by found him, and rocked the vehicle to free him. The victim was taken to Minden hospital, and then transferred to Sunnybrook in Toronto.

Minden Home and Garden Tour

Extra incentive added to '97 tour

Participants in this year's Minden Home and Garden Tour will have an extra incentive to take in the event in July thanks to one of the area's most famous seasonal residents.

Renowned Canadian Artist, Robert Bateman has donated a signed and numbered print of one of his paintings which will be awarded to one of the participants. "We contacted Mr. Bateman earlier this year and he has graciously given us the print which we will be giving away," Nora Snyder, a member of the organizing committee said. "Not only has he offered us the print," she added, "but when he heard the proceeds of the event will be going to the Minden Hospital Building Fund, he also sent a $1000 cash donation as well."

If participation in last year's event and the interest shown in this summer's tour is any indication, the incentive is hardly needed to attract participants. Interest is already running high according to the organizers and tickets are expected to sell briskly for the tour scheduled for July 12.

Tour ticket holders will be able to visit ten homes and gardens in the Minden area and, as the posters advertise, "Discover our best kept secrets."

"We have nine new stops on the tour this year and one popular destination from last year to visit this year," committee member Diane Graham said. As usual, for security reasons, the list of the homes and gardens will not be made public until closer to the date. However, organizers are predicting that participants will enjoy the event as much as they did last year.

Tickets for the Minden Home and Garden Tour will go on sale soon at: the IDA Drug Store, Campbell's Flower Shop and Gambell's Antiques in Minden, Norland Trading Post in Norland, Hair Care in Carnarvon and Under Cover Books in Haliburton. The cost is $10 per person.

O'Reilly pleased with Liberal victory

we meet our promise that we're not borrowing money, or trying to pay for tax cuts — I think we've got to stay on course until we've got the budget down.

"I also think we're going to have to pay a lot more attention to the environment. I think we've also got to pay more attention to jobs and to human rights — we've got to make sure the countries we deal with treat human rights with respect."

"I think we've made a lot of the cuts. I think also we'll talk about tax cuts when we're in a position to do so."

On the ever-present gun issue, O'Reilly reiterated his previous position — that while he might regret having spoken too soon in offering to oppose the gun bill, he feels his actions — absenting himself from the vote — were still the most reasonable course, and he is satisfied that following through with an opposing vote would neither serve nor represent the riding as a whole.

Said O'Reilly, "I've always listened to the people. When you do a poll, and 1,800 people respond, and 49.6 per cent are in favour, and 49.4 per cent are against, you have to make a decision that's best for the riding, not best for yourself."

O'Reilly commented also that he is looking forward to working in the new legislature, and that he thinks the situation in Ottawa may yet prove advantageous for the country.

"I knew there was going to be a change. I'm certainly delighted the Bloc isn't the official opposition any more. I think that's real good news for the country... The last parliament of Canada we went into was

Loss of local control a concern in Galway

Harvey Township would result in higher taxes for G-C and a loss of any control over municipal affairs.

Peterborough County Council recently passed a resolution proposed by the two G-C representatives which states that Peterborough County would consider allowing G-C to leave Peterborough and become part of Haliburton County. The key word in that resolution is "consider." Some people present at the meeting were very skeptical of the word.

"I think we've been set up from the start," said Carl Brickman. "If we go to Harvey, we're done. We're going to have one representative on (the amalgamated) Harvey Council come January 1, 1998 unless there is some unique person who has the ability to go to Harvey and sell himself as a politician."

If G-C amalgamates with Harvey, it is guaranteed one representative on council and Harvey is guaranteed one representative. The reeve, deputy-reeve and a third councillor would be elected from candidates at large, within the newly created municipality. Harvey would have 61 per cent of the households and 81 per cent of the permanent population. With such an imbalance something that had never existed before, but what we're going into now is probably going to be something a little more like a traditional parliament."

Reform candidate Dunn said he was disappointed to have lost, but pleased to have come in with such a strong showing.

Said Dunn, "It was a close race... I did well, and I'm happy with how well I did. But it doesn't matter how well you do in second place. You still didn't win. Second place is still second place."

Dunn said he is planning on running again, and the campaign is starting right now.

"A lot of the organizations I was in touch with while I was campaigning, I really didn't have much of a track record with them. All of a sudden you show up during the election, and say please support me, but you've never been there before to solicit that support, and you've never been there before to give them any kind of help... So during the next three or four years I plan on addressing that. And if they seek help from Mr. O'Reilly and they don't get it, then I've got 60 guys down in Ottawa working for me, and I will seek that assistance through them... I plan on going out and soliciting their questions as opposed to sitting back and hoping they to come to me. I think that's a fair thing to do... And of course if Mr. O'Reilly does his thing, they'll have no need to come to me. I'll be keeping an eye on him for the next four years."

Dunn said also that he is happy Reform has made it to official opposition.

"Mr. Manning has a perfect opportunity to prove himself. He's the official opposition. He's got the five questions. He's got the funding. I think he's going to do a really good job."

PC candidate Chester congratulated O'Reilly in his concession speech, and thanked his campaign team for their efforts.

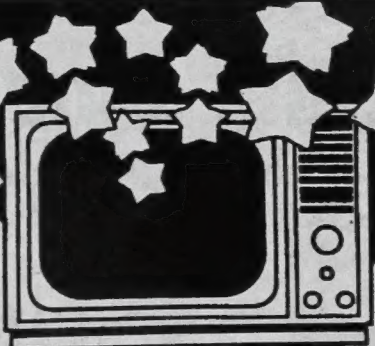

Said Chester, "You did a number on us in Ontario, and I know you've got a lot of hard working people here. I too have had a lot of hard-working individuals over the last month or so, some even longer than that... There's good news, in that we've regained official party status again. I think that's going to benefit Canadians. It's limited to a certain part of the country, but it's a start. I think we doubled our polls this time coming — we went from 10 to 20 that we came first in... Again, congratulations John, to you and your team, and hopefully you will be able to represent the interests of all of us in Ottawa."

NDP candidate Denyer likewise thanked his campaign team, congratulated O'Reilly's team, for running "a credible campaign", and described himself as happy to have seen the NDP do so well nationally.

His own results, locally — an improvement over the party's 1993 share — pleased him overall, he said, and may be a sign there are people in the riding looking for change.

Said Denyer, "I'm really excited at the results, especially for the first time running... I'm proud of my campaign. We ran a good, competitive campaign... We got a lot of issues out from under the table that have never been brought out... I think there are people looking for change out there. It's never been a strong NDP riding, but I think people are starting to look for something different."

"I'm really proud of the difference Alexa McDonough has made, getting 20 something seats. The NDP is going to create a conscience again in Ottawa."

Residents feel Haliburton County offers best option ance in population figures, Galway-Cavendish ratepayers fear they wouldn't have much chance of electing a second representative on the new council.

"I feel that once we're there (amalgamated with Harvey), we'll never get the support of the reeve or deputy-reeve to petition Peterborough County to join Haliburton," Brickman said.

Ron Gerow, a member of the Peterborough Restructuring Committee and deputy-reeve of Belmont-Methuen Township, said that Peterborough County Council had many discussions before making its proposal to the provincial government. He said that because of the time frame, decisions had to be made quickly and there wasn't time to assess all the possibilities and pick what was best for each municipality. Instead, the decisions reflected what council felt was best for the county as a whole.

"In some cases it may be the second or third best choice for an individual municipality," Gerow admitted. "The whole process has been devastating for all of us."

He added that the county wanted to have some input rather than leave the decisions completely in the hands of a provincial restructuring commissioner.

Responding to the question of whether he believed Peterborough County council would support Galway-Cavendish's bid to join Haliburton County in the event of a referendum favouring such a move, Gerow said that Peterborough County Council would probably consider what effect it would have on Peterborough County as a whole.

That wasn't the answer the audience wanted to hear. It seemed to reinforce Brickman's belief that an amalgamation with Harvey Township would put an end to any hopes Galway-Cavendish had of joining Haliburton County.

During the two hours of discussions, Peter Charters reaffirmed his conviction that a move to Haliburton County is the best scenario for Galway-Cavendish. He said that G-C would reduce its tax burden by a minimum of 20 per cent. The figures used to calculate the savings were submitted to officials of both counties for verification. Charters said that the accuracy of the figures was verified by both the chief administrative officer and the director of finance for Peterborough County.

It was also noted that restructuring talks between Peterborough County and the City of Peterborough have broken off. The city has backed off, making it clear that it prefers to remain a separate entity.

Charters admitted that some residents in the southern and eastern portions of the municipality may prefer to stay with Peterborough County. He suggested that the solution to that dilemma would be to redefine the boundaries, if need be, to satisfy the majority of people within the municipality. He acknowledged that it may be a difficult, but not impossible process, which remains an option in the event that no other acceptable alternative can be found.

It was pointed out that a north-south split would leave 90 per cent of the roads within the northern portion, resulting in a responsibility for the lion's share of road maintenance costs. Charters stated that the benefits would still far outweigh the added responsibility.

One member of the audience was adamant that Galway-Cavendish should keep its roads department, stating that it could always be counted upon to keep roads open even during the worst of storms.

Charters noted that if G-C amalgamates with Harvey Township, the municipality, as it is, would cease to exist and the probability of keeping the roads department intact was slim.

A woman in the audience asked what consideration had been given to joining with Victoria County, and more specifically, amalgamating with Somerville Township. Charters pointed out that Somerville was invited to participate in the restructuring process but township officials sent a letter declining the offer.

"The time has come to make a decision," Charters said. "It's do or die."

Several members of the audience voiced their agreement.

Brickman moved a resolution, petitioning the council of the Township of Galway and Cavendish to set up a meeting with Municipal Affairs Minister Al Leach, Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson and Hastings-Peterborough MPP Harry Danford with the intention of lobbying Leach to allow Galway-Cavendish to move to Haliburton County, effective January 1, 1998.

Charters seconded the motion and the chairman of the meeting asked for a show of hands supporting the resolution. The response was unanimous.

Galway-Cavendish council will meet June 10, at which time the resolution will be brought forward.

HALIBURTON BOUND?: An estimated 120 people attended an emergency meeting at the Galway Hall June 7 to debate the fate of Galway-Cavendish Township. The County of Peterborough has petitioned the provincial government to force Galway-Cavendish to amalgamate with Harvey Township. Studies have shown that Galway-Cavendish would benefit from a union with Haliburton County. Those who attended the meeting voted unanimously to petition the province to allow Galway-Cavendish to join with Haliburton.

Mock accident tests the skills of Stanhope firefighters

by Misty Bennett

A white Dodge Charger lost control on the corner in Carnarvon just north of the Highway 118 intersection on Highway 35. The vehicle, carrying two adult female passengers and a baby, rolled over and landed on its roof. The baby was thrown from the car and the other passengers were seriously injured. One passenger was knocked unconscious and both adult occupants were trapped in the car.

This was the scene at a mock accident which was used for training local emergency crews last Monday night. The accident was set up by the Stanhope Fire Fighters, in hope that it would be a valuable training exercise for the fire fighters as well as O.P.P. and ambulance attendants.

Unfortunately the ambulance service was unable to participate, but the police were on hand for the exercise.

The two "victims" Skip Ray and Clare Treharne gave their time for the training exercise. They both have husbands in the fire department. Ray and Treharne were covered in fake blood and had shards of glass protruding from a couple of their "wounds".

The car was donated for the exercise by Carnarvon Garage, and Thomas Contracting donated a front end loader to flip the vehicle onto its roof.

The emergency call was placed by senior captain Tony Aymong on his cellular phone. Because the phone is serviced in the 416 area code, dialling 911 on the phone will get emergency response. The call was placed this way in order to test the effectiveness of the emergency dispatch team.

The call was placed at 7:01 p.m. although the training exercise wasn't set to begin until 7:30. The operator was told the accident had taken place on Highway 35, north of Highway 118. Aymong was questioned as to what township they were in, but he told them that he wasn't sure, he was "just driving past".

The O.P.P. were the first on the scene at 7:20 p.m. having received the call. Stanhope Firefighters received a page at 7:31 and were on the scene at 7:36.

The page came across as a single vehicle accident with two victims. The fact that it was a mock accident was not included in the communication, but that was soon corrected.

Prior to arrival on the scene, Fire Chief Bob Pollard took command and requested that two units set up traffic control at either end of the accident scene. This was accomplished quickly and the other trucks pulled into the field along side the over-turned vehicle.

"Some of our most experienced men are doing traffic control, we thought it would be good to keep them out of the way, and let the others get some practice," said Aymong.

The police officer on the scene had already assessed the situation and reassured the victims. When the fire department arrived the situation was reassessed, flares were set up, equipment was brought out and the volunteers set to work stabilizing both the victims and the vehicle.

Once the car was stabilized by wooden blocks to support the frame, the firefighters began the task of extracting the victims.

"In a real situation we are designated to move metal, we don't move the victims unless there is a danger of fire," said Aymong.

The baby (a doll) was discovered in the bushes, some distance from the car. Three volunteers took over the care of the baby, and it was eventually stabilized and moved.

Firefighters remove the 'injured' driver from the overturned vehicle at the scene of a mock accident last Monday in Carnarvon.

Firefighters tend to the injuries of an infant thrown from the vehicle by the force of the accident. A doll was used in the exercise as Stanhope firefighters hone their rescue skills at a mock accident scene.

A Stanhope firefighter comforts one of the victims safely removed from the vehicle on a backboard, as they wait for the arrival of the ambulance.

The Jaws of Life were used to pry open the door on the driver's side of the vehicle. The back hatch window was removed in order to get the driver, Treharne, out of the car. She was freed from the steering wheel, placed on a back-board inside the car and handed out through the back window. The first victim was free of the vehicle by 8:20 p.m.

The second victim, Ray, was removed fifteen minutes later. She was placed on a back-board and taken out through the driver's side door.

The extrication took a little under an hour in total, which Senior Captain Aymong, feels is a fairly good time. The removal of the victims was a difficult one, and the firefighters handled the situation well.

If a lesson can be taken from this exercise, it is that individuals should learn their fire department boundaries and telephone numbers. The response from the 911 call that was placed took a long time, time that might have meant the difference between life or death for the victims trapped inside the car. With limited information dispatchers have a hard time locating the correct emergency team. The fastest way to get a response team in this area is to call the fire department directly. They will dispatch all other agencies to the scene of the accident, Aymong advised.

Walk raises $6500

Organizers report the 14th annual Walk for Water went reasonably well.

"It was a beautiful day, a little cooler than some years, which was nice for the walkers. It was a little buggy at first, but then the wind came up... And we got all the walkers back in before it started to rain," Kathy Sweeney, representative of the organizing committee commented.

Fifty-four walkers participated. The walk raised $6,500. That total is somewhere in the middle of the amount raised over the years.

The committee doesn't as yet know where the funding will go. In previous years, when the project had matching funds from the Canadian International Development Association (CIDA), the projects had to be identified in advance and matched to a budget. But Sweeney says at a rough guess, they have enough for four wells in third world countries.

The project funds irrigation projects and drinking water wells in developing countries.

Says Sweeney, "We do have enough now with the $6,500 for I would say four wells, if we put it towards wells, as opposed to tanks or other irrigation projects. Now that we've had the walk and raised the funds, we'll be getting together to decide on which project. We have so many requests, and we can't really decide until we know what's coming in... We get requests from all over, but lately we've been working primarily in India, so there's a good chance that we'll have a project there that it will be applied to."

ABOVE: Spirits were high as the walkers approached the third check point at the corner of Highway 121 and North Kashagawigamog Lake Road and Highway 121 Saturday. At this point they had completed about one-quarter of the distance.

LEFT: Ron and Tose Reid are off to a flying start as they run past the HHSS playing field at the start of the Walk for Water Saturday morning.

Federal vote raises some interesting questions

The federal election results, both here and across the country, raise a number of interesting questions about our country and the sort of leadership Canadians are seeking. The local riding was part of the virtual Liberal sweep across Ontario. While John O'Reilly's margin of victory was greatly reduced, it was still substantial enough. The growth of the Reform's strength in Victoria/Haliburton can be traced to the quality of its candidate. Pat Dunn provided a strong presence for the party in this riding and could pose a serious threat to the Liberal hold the next time around if he should choose to run again.

There is no doubt that the gun control legislation issue helped to buoy his total (and hurt O'Reilly's), but it is doubtful that a single issue, whatever it might be, can be enough to push a candidate to victory.

The strong showing of the Conservative candidate was a surprise if only because of the party's weak showing nationally. It is worth noting that the lack of support from the Ontario PCs for their federal brethren no doubt had an impact on the success of candidates across the province. Had that support been there, the outcome would certainly have reduced the strength of the Liberal sweep. Whether it would have been enough to push Lorne Chester to the top is not clear, but in a Mike Harris Ontario it wouldn't have hurt.

The ongoing estrangement between the provincial and federal Tories will be an interesting story to watch over the next few years leading up to the next Ontario vote.

One cannot help but wonder if the Ontario electorate, who has divided its loyalties between the PCs provincially and the Liberals federally, will continue to live with its split personality the next time a vote is called.

Relocation allows sharing of resources

Editor:

In response to recent letters to the Editor let me try to make a brief reply. Last week's letter from Mr. Rowe raised a number of issues which may be of concern to others as well.

With respect to the matter of yearly deficits, the HHHS expects that its operation over the past year will not result in a deficit that is at all close to prior years. Although the auditors are preparing the year end statements at this time, we expect that this year's deficit in total will be approximately $20,000 (not including depreciation expense). This should be contrasted with deficits that were in the $300,000 range for the last years of operation under St. Joseph's Health Centre.

Indeed it was to combat this level of expenditure that SJHC pressed for reductions in staffing and service during the year prior to transferring the facilities to HHHS.

Both Ms. Cox and Mr. Rowe have questioned the wisdom of locating the health facility in a residential area. The short answer relates to the conditions of receiving the capital grant approval from the government which required the relocation of the Minden Hospital and the upgrading of the Hyland Crest Sr. Citizens Home on the Hyland Crest site. The reasoning, of course, was that this would allow a sharing of support service costs and the integration of human resources. Notwithstanding the imperfections of the location of the Hyland Crest site, and even with consideration for the "home" of many senior citizens, it was recognized that operating two facilities on separate sites in Minden was not affordable in the longer run and that savings could best be achieved by combining health services under one roof. With all the studies that have been done on this question, including the Committee chaired by Jack Brezina, the move to Hyland Crest was concluded to be the best solution and was the basis of the Minister of Health's announcement in December, 1993.

Addressing the matter of parking for a moment, at our present stage of planning we have specified 75 places. This will be reviewed as the services on the site are confirmed. As with building planning, opportunities will be provided for expansion.

We do hope to develop a landing pad for the air ambulance although the necessity for it has been questioned by the Ministry of Health. It is very unlikely that it would be located on the rooftop.

Certainly, the plans of HHHS calls for a 24-hour, 7-day week facility in Minden which, as your readers will recall, was a primary condition of the Board of Directors for the project. Plans also call for physician offices to be located on site. We will either establish a system of on-call or continue the present arrangements with the physicians group who are providing service at the present Minden Hospital.

Some have expressed concern about the question of access across the Main Street bridge. Access routes to the hospital site will be well signed and clearly visible to the public. Tests done by the OPP and others indicate that the difference in time to get to the new location will be less than two minutes extra. Community events will need to be staged so as to ensure emergency access to the new site.

The Board of Directors of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services is committed to moving the redevelopment of our local facilities forward. Our communities have been waiting 17 years since the early planning was started. The pressure we feel is to "get on with it". There will never be a better opportunity.

The HHHS will be holding its first annual meeting on June 26 at 7:00 p.m. at the Minden Community Centre. We see this as an opportunity to report on our progress and to answer questions from the public. Your readers would be most welcome to attend.

Teachers with a lot of class

Editor:

I am writing today, in a mood of reflection, to express my gratitude for the quality of teachers and staff at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Within the next week or so my youngest child will be graduating from eighth grade and entering into a new stage of growth and development and direction. She is my third and final child to attend and graduate from this school and upon leaving they have all attained an appropriate level of education but, most importantly, have through their years there, developed skills which will enable them to face their futures, whatever they be, with confidence, self-esteem and the knowledge that they have a strong base on which to build and grow.

There have been many teachers over the last nine years who have taught my children, Glenn, Kimberley and Sara, and I thank you for your compassion, your patience, your courage, your knowledge, your teaching abilities and your understanding, just to name a few of their qualities. And a few of them have gone the extra mile to assist a child to pursue the seemingly impossible, to strive for more, and to attain confidence in handling the difficult, and to learn how to direct their energies into the right channels.

These teachers handle our children's daily scholastic needs but they also teach and direct our children in handling their own physical and emotional needs - how to face issues and deal with them, how to get along with others, how to cope with day to day relationships and so on, etc.

I am sure I speak for lots of other parents who wish to say a special thank you for all you have done for our children. May God continue to direct you as you continue your great service to the children who are the future of our community.

I must express at this time a special note of thanks to a certain few who most definitely went the extra mile for my children and I am sure for others as well: Kathie Adams, Liz Bloomfield, Tom Dawson, Glen Carter and Ted Reid - I thank you.

A grateful parent,

Thelda McGuire

34% for Liberals

Editor:

John O'Reilly was re-elected MP for Victoria-Haliburton riding by only 34% of the 53,258 voters, which was a very good turnout.

Pat Dunn received 32% and Lorne Chester 27%.

Disgust

Editor:

I hope that this letter is one of many showing disgust for the article in the "Personals" - re. yellow dress.

Perhaps it is time for you to change the rules and insist that these articles are also signed as in "Letters to the Editor" or they are not printed.

What could be just a joke could also be interpreted as something much more serious.

Patti Prentice,
Minden.

Sweet music

Editor:

Last night I attended Music Night at Archie Stouffer Public School, Minden, and was again rewarded by another delightful performance of grade 7 & 8 music students, playing various instruments, some switching from one to another. The alumni piano solo and the Hornpipe dance were pleasant additions to the programme.

My congratulations to the talented and very dedicated Glenn Carter, who gives much of his own time to make the evening a success and is rewarded by his enthusiastic group giving their best.

My congratulations, also, to the school board who have kept the instrumental music programme afloat, despite all the cutbacks.

Living a double Di life

In the future, everybody will be famous for 15 minutes.

Andy Warhol

Christina Hance is only 36, but she's already had 'way more than her allotted 15 minutes of fame. She's been famous for 12 years.

Twelve years of ooohs and aahs from crowds, of popping flashbulbs, and spontaneous applause from total strangers. Twelve years of waiting limos, fawning shopkeepers, five-star hotels and front row centre seats at the theatre.

Twelve years of being a world celebrity. And she's sick to death of it.

You've never heard of Christina Hance? Don't feel bad. You have heard of Princess Diana, right?

Well, Christina is a dead ringer for Princess Di.

Not when she gets out of bed in the morning, you understand. Christina has to work at it a bit. She dyed her mousy brown hair the same shade as Di's and got an identical cut. She learned to tilt her head just so, and to smile that famous, shy, half-smile.

She also got herself a set of boob implants to complete the effect.

Financially, it was a brilliant career move for Christina. Before her Princess Di makeover, Christina was just one of a million London shop girls. Single mother. Part-time stripper. Going nowhere. Then, in 1986 she entered and won a Princess Di Lookalike Contest on British TV.

Since then, Christina's been on magazine covers and billboards from Land's End to John O'Groats. She's worked Trade Fairs, shown up in food commercials and been 'presented' at parties and corporate functions from the Middle East to South America. And it paid well. In her Princess Di persona, Christina earned up to $15,000 a day.

But it wasn't much fun. "A lot of jobs were set up as if I were the real Diana" she says. "I travelled in limousines and private jets and was even given a bodyguard. I lived the life of a princess for a day and then went home to do the washing up. I fainted in a studio once because I was so tired. They just picked me up, made me a coffee and told me to carry on."

Being a Princess Di clone wasn't so hot in the Romance department either. "There are some men who only want to sleep with me so they can imagine I'm the real Diana. I've been out with men who say 'Go on, do the voice' or 'Can you dress up as Di when we go out tonight'. I find that really bizarre and it's insulting."

Has Christina ever encountered the woman she imitates? Only once, and it wasn't pleasant. "I was appearing as Princess Di in a video and we were shooting at the gates of Buckingham Palace" she recalls. "The real Princess Di drove out the gates and shot me a look that was pure daggers."

And that wasn't the only unpleasant experience Christina Hance has had pretending to be Diana, Princess of Wales. Do you remember that mini-scandal in which The Sun newspaper published a grainy photo they claimed showed Princess Di and her riding instructor doing some off-trail bareback riding in a hotel room?

Well, it wasn't Princess Di's riding instructor. And it wasn't Princess Di either. The guy was some porn video actor. The woman was Christina Hance.

It's hard to say from talking to her, just how 'innocent' Christina is in all of this. She took the money. And she couldn't be so dim as to not realize that many of her assignments were on the sleazy side.

Still, she's had enough and she wants off the celebrity merry go round. "I'm going to let my hair grow natural and I'm going to slob out" she says.

So she's going to shed the Princess Di exoskeleton she's been wearing for the past twelve years.

And hope like hell the world appreciates whatever's underneath it.

Let Rocky rest in peace

Editor:

Re: Has everyone gone crazy?
(letter to the editor June 2, 1997) in reference to "Rocky - the dog"

When a person or a pet that is loved dies, it is natural for the grief process to begin. Shock and denial are the usual first reactions followed by various stages of bargaining, anger and depression until acceptance can be achieved.

If you have been following the letters (re: Rocky) closely, J.
Cardwell - you must be aware of Sonya Smith's second letter to the editor, (Rocky's owner responds - letter to the editor May 20th, 1997). It is my hope that you have compassion for the two children, Mike and Chantel Smith, and to be able to do so, realize that when their mother Sonya Smith initially lashed out it was a normal part of grieving, called anger. In her second letter, she did accept responsibility for Rocky's death. I admire her humility and accountability for what happened.

I feel the kindest and most helpful thing the community can do now is to let go of sending in public editorials.

Your letter (Has everyone gone crazy?) in my perspective - was cruel and untimely. A letter such as yours only perpetuates the pain the Smith family feels. The family needs to grieve its loss, in order to find acceptance and move on to the healing process. Sonya and Brian found a new puppy for the family.
Although the puppy could never take Rocky's place - it's a positive step as they bond with the puppy.
Please people, let Rocky rest in peace.

Not much help

Editor:

There have been so many letters about the Chamber of Commerce - I just have to write how I was treated in the early 70's.

A new manager might help if he isn't from Haliburton.

About three or four years ago
someone from Cardiff said in the paper if you didn't live in the Haliburton area the Chamber was of no use to you and he hit the nail on the head.

A gentleman had breakfast early one morning (in my restaurant) then asked if I belonged to the Chamber. I said yes and he said I should drop them because they certainly didn't do me any good. When he asked them where to eat in Minden, the Chamber representative said, "you better eat in Haliburton there are no good eating places in Minden."

He became a steady customer for me until I sold my business in 1978.

This also happened to my son who owned Fairfield Bay Cottages in the 1980 and to my friend who has cottages on Highway 35. About three years ago, when everything in Minden was supposed to be booked full and not one was - the gentleman was told there was a cancellation at PineStone and they could get in there.

If you have friends in the Minden area you don't want to drive to Pine Stone for many reasons.

I said years ago, give them enough rope they will hang themselves and they have and people who left the Chamber know their business didn't suffer.

We answered many questions every day from people who asked where lakes were and the Registry office etc.

Norland karate club members win 11 medals in competition

by Jerry Grozelle

Five members of the Ryukyu Karate-Do Club in Norland came home from a tournament in Bowmanville on May 31 with 11 of the 22 medals that were awarded. The tournament was hosted by the Maple Leaf Karate Club, under the supervision of Charles Kennish, six dan Shihan (Master Instructor).

Randy Coleman of Norland is the Sensei (Instructor) of the local club. He has 14 students aged six to mid-30s. The local competitors who attended the tournament were Dan Belli and his daughter Josie, 8, of Minden; Lisa Mercer and her son Kelly, 8, of Carnarvon; and Timmy Jeanes, 11 of Norland.

All of the local competitors are orange belts, who compete in the novice class. The two adults from the Norland club competed against green and blue belts, which are the next two levels higher in ranking.

Dan Belli won the silver medal in kumite (freestyle fighting). He was also a bronze medalist in the team kata (pre-arranged patterns).

Josie Belli was a member of the three-person kata gold medalist team. She earned a silver medal in kumite and a bronze medal in tamisha-wari (board breaking).

Lisa Mercer brought home a bronze medal in the team kata.

Kelly Mercer earned a gold medal in kumite, another gold in the team kata and a silver medal in tamisha-wari.

Timmy Jeanes was the gold medalist in both the kumite and the tamisha-wari.

A total of 32 competitors participated in the event.

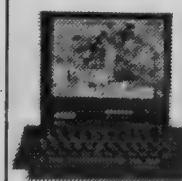

"I'm very proud of them," Coleman said.

All of the Norland juniors

Music to your ears

The elementary school was rocking May 29, as the grade seven and eight students presented their annual Music Night. From traditional band pieces to solo artists to vocal performances to highland dancing, numerous styles of music were presented.

The grade seven band was the first to perform, with a number of arrangements that included a run through of "Pomp and Circumstance". The band hopes to perform this piece at the convocation ceremony for the graduating grade eight students.

The grade seven/eight All Star band performed a couple of songs before the grade eight band took over for the remainder of the evening.

A number of students performed solo arrangements, some to the upbeat accompaniment of pre-recorded back-up instrumentation. This effect added a sense of professionalism to the evening. Throughout the evening duets, trios and other groups took the stage to perform their renditions of many well-known tunes.

Vocal pieces included: "The Rose", "Because You Loved Me" and a tribute to the pop group, Spice Girls with the song "Say You'll Be There."

Other popular tunes were the theme songs from: Jurassic Park, Forrest Gump, Chariots of Fire, Back to the Future and Music of the Night from Phantom of the Opera.

One grade seven ensemble presented "The John Dunbar Theme" (from Dances with Wolves). This group gave up its morning recesses to practice for the performance.

Grade nine student, Micah Smith returned to the elementary school to perform the Alumni Item, a piano solo. Every year, one high school student who graduated from Archie Stouffer is invited back to perform at Music Night.

The grade seven rock band Caustic Soda, got toes tapping as they performed their own piece, "Shouldn't Have Done That". The band is composed of drummer: Dave Bloomfield, guitarist and vocalist: Kyle Aggett and piper: Andrew Mansfield.

Soloist Iain Farrell performs "Chariots of Fire" on his Alto Sax.

The grade seven band opens Music Night with their rendition of "Rock Around the Clock"

If you have experienced the loss of a loved one through suicide, you are invited to attend a discussion evening.

Bioregionalism mapping project moving ahead despite funding cuts

by Andrew Milne

The bioregional atlas project enters year four this summer.

Program director Anna Gibson says the project will follow much the same goals as previously — and they're still looking for anyone interested in doing maps, and gathering the information for them.

The project is a long term undertaking by Trent University's bioregional program to coordinate the mapping the Haliburton Highlands area from a bioregional perspective — a concept that encompasses a broad range of approaches, centring around community economic development and ecology.

The project is slightly reduced again this year from former years, in which funding was provided for two personnel through the summer. Approval only came through for one position this year, leaving Gibson to run the project on her own — and her own grant is shared with the development corporation.

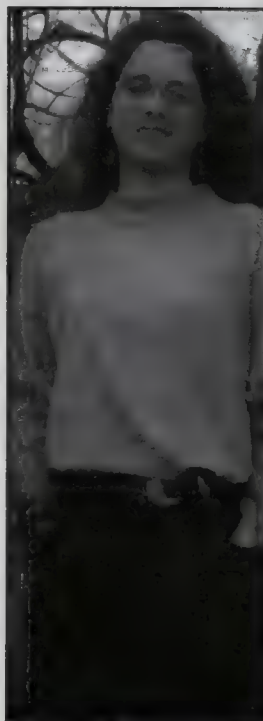

"I'm working with the Community Development Corporation," says Gibson, "helping them put together the Haliburton community profile. The atlas and the CDC are sort of sharing me. I'm doing both, because it's something the atlas needs as well."

The single position also means the project's mapping specialist Geordan Harvey isn't back this year. And while Gibson does have some ability with Geographical Information Systems (GIS) — the digital mapping system used in the project, it's not going to be enough to do the work on the base map.

"We're making do," says Gibson. "It just means we're not going to be able to get as much as we'd hoped done. And we're not going to be able to focus on GIS as intensely as we'd wanted to... We're looking at the question of GIS and how we're going to proceed without the funding for that in the meanwhile... I can't put together a base map. It's not my field. But I'm going to be talking to someone at Sir Sandford Fleming who's working with us, find out from them if there's someone there who can help us."

The project continues to grow, says Gibson. They picked up another mapping team late in the season last year, bringing the total to twelve.

How large an effect the funding difficulties will have on the project, Gibson says, she isn't sure.

Says Gibson, "It's really hard to say. Community projects always move at their own pace. It's the map designers that are doing the majority of the work. In the second year, we did a lot of research with people, helping them in tracking down stuff that was harder to find... Last year the majority of the time we spent with the GIS, getting the base map together. So this year, we won't be doing so much of that. But we'll adapt."

Horticulturists hear about the common loon

by Misty Bennett

The subject of loons was on everyone's mind as the Minden and District Horticultural Society hosted guest speaker Vic Orr at its monthly meeting last Tuesday night. Orr spoke to a packed Hyland Crest auditorium on the mating, nesting and general habits of the Common Loon.

As a youngster, Orr lived near the Bay of Fundy in Nova Scotia. He remembers having little interest in the drab loons which spent their winters on the ocean. Of course, at this point in his life, Orr had not seen the birds bedecked in their striking white and black breeding plumage.

The migration is a hazardous one for the loons. Many of the birds are injured during their long trek between North American lakes and the ocean. A common hazard of the migration occurs when loons land on strips of highway, believing that the dark ribbon of tarmac is open water. They cannot take off again from land, and without human intervention, the birds will die.

Orr presented many facts about the Common Loon and showed a professional video that provided insight into the lives of a mated loon pair.

Orr, who lives on Four Mile Lake, near Coboconk, has built a tethered, floating platform for a mated pair of loons on his lake. The platform makes a great nesting site, as loons prefer islands in order to escape predatory mammals. The platform will rise and fall with the level of the lake as well, which prevents swamping of the nest.

Loons tend to mate for life, inasmuch as they will keep the same lake for their breeding territory and keep the same mate as long as it too returns to the lake.

Orr told the crowd of a time when one of the loons did not return to the lake. He assumed that the female had been killed during the migration. Eventually the male took on another partner which had been hanging around the lake, but not until it had called for its original mate for more than a week.

Loons generally breed twice a day for about a week prior to the first egg being laid, the second usually follows between one to three days later. There are almost always two chicks. Incubation takes roughly 28 to 30 days.

"Adult loons share nesting responsibilities, rotating every 20 minutes to half day depending on how hot the weather is," says Orr.

The eggs must hatch on or before the end of June in order that the young be old enough to learn how to fly for the fall migration. Loons will attempt up to three clutches of eggs in one summer if prior attempts have been unsuccessful, and no chicks hatched.

Chicks are capable of swimming immediately after hatching, although they lack the ability to dive, a skill acquired later.

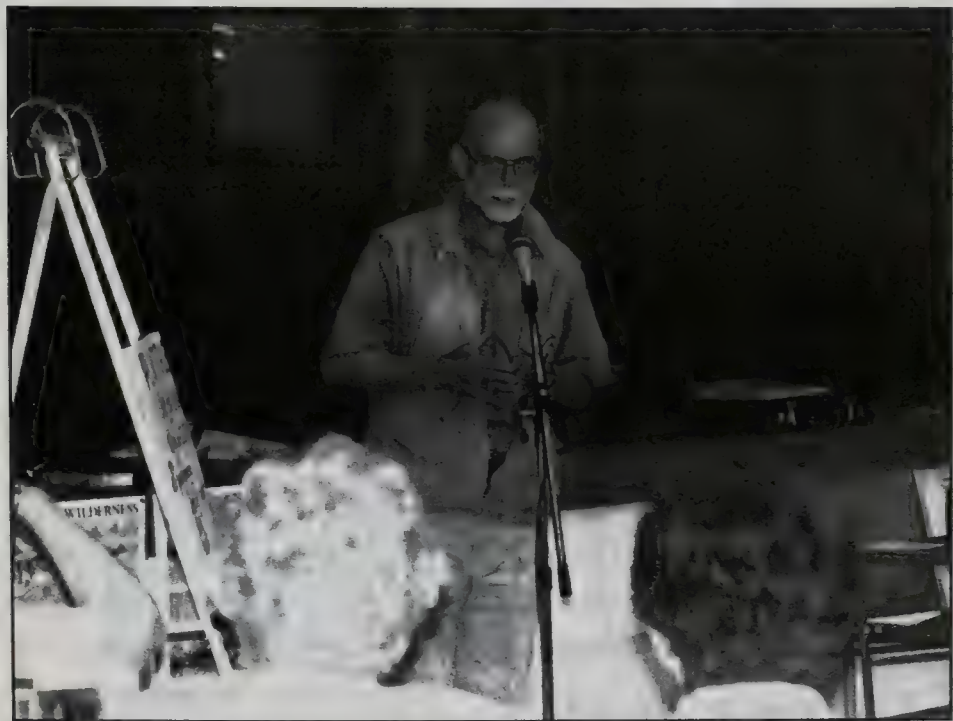

Following their migration, the chicks will remain on the ocean for three to four years, or until they reach sexual maturity, when they will once again return to lakes in North America. Young loons generally tend to return to their natal lake and attempt to find a partner there, provided their parents aren't still on the lake, and there is room for another pair.

The Common Loon has a lengthy life span and some birds have been known to live as long as 20 to 30 years.

Loons are structurally strange birds. Their bones are solid, unlike many other species of fowl which have hollow bones for ease of flight and a lighter weight to carry.

"Loons have the smallest wing area compared to their body weight and yet can fly up to 10 miles per hour faster than other species of birds," says Orr.

Unfortunately man is the loon's worst predator. Cottagers like islands just as much as the loons do, and regretably for the loons, humans generally tend to come out on top in the fight over potential "nesting" areas.

Vic Orr spoke to the monthly meeting of the Minden and District Horticultural Society about the habits of the Common Loon. The meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Hyland Crest auditorium.

Country Inn reopens at Moore Falls

An open house and official sign unveiling ceremonies were held at Oldham's Inn at Moore Falls Sunday afternoon, June 7.

Owners Victor and Carol Brown spent the last several months renovating and remodeling the old Moore Falls Inn, preparing for the open house.

The Inn overlooks Moore Lake beside the Gull River bridge. It offers fine dining and a bed and breakfast.

Surrounding municipalities of Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden and Laxton, Digby and Longford were represented by politicians. Piper Earl Cooper of West Guilford entertained as dozens of visitors inspected the renovations.

A unique feature that graces the front yard of the Inn is a sculpture of two bears by chainsaw sculptor Peter Morgensen of Mount Forest, Ontario.

The Inn will be officially open for business next week.

The new owners and staff are seen gathered around the Inn's sign shortly after its unveiling Saturday.

Dancers strut their stuff this Saturday

Jazz, tap and ballet, three schools of dance, all of which will be demonstrated on June 14, when The Dance Company holds its recital.

Teacher, Terri Mathews, has been working with her students since November and this will be their first recital. The performing group will be about 30 strong, and will present in groups, solos, duets and trios.

There will be three guest performers from Brampton and a local person dancing at the recital as well.

Although this season's sessions are now over, a summer dance camp will be starting soon and registration for the next session will begin in September. For more information, call The Dance Company at 457-1561.

The recital will be held at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden at 4:00 p.m. Admission is $5.00. Tickets may be purchased at the door, or at Undercover Books or The Dance Company both in Haliburton.

Police investigate 16 breakins at area cottages

During the week of May 24-30, personnel of the Minden O.P.P. investigated 70 incidents and 14 motor vehicle collisions.

Cottage break-ins

A male young offender was charged May 31, in relation to nine cottage break and enters which occurred in the Maple Lake area of Stanhope Township. He is charged further for the related stolen property offences. The value of stolen property was estimated to be $7,500 and about half the property was recovered by police. The male is in custody awaiting a bail hearing. The investigation is continuing and the investigating officer is Constable Terry Allore.

Vehicle rolls over

Officers were called to a single car rollover accident on Highway 35 near Braeside Lodge on May 24 at about 6:45 a.m. The driver of the vehicle was injured and subsequently treated and released at the Minden Hospital. John Claude Pepin, age 22, of Toronto was also arrested and charged for impaired operation of a motor vehicle and for driving with no insurance.

Assault

Shortly after midnight, May 24, police were called to the Haliburton Hospital to investigate a domestic assault which occurred at a residence in the area. A 59 year old woman received medical treatment for cuts and bruises and was released from hospital. Her 61 year old husband has been charged with assault and was released from custody on conditions and is awaiting a court appearance. No names are being released to protect the identity of the victim.

Cottage vandalized

Officers investigated a break-in at the Southcombe cottage on the south shore of Lake Kashagawigamog. The break-in occurred over the winter and the culprits vandalized the interior of the cottage. This is the second consecutive winter that this cottage has been vandalized and police are asking anyone with information about this crime to please call the Minden O.P.P. at 286-1431 during business hours.

Six break-ins

Minden O.P.P. are also investigating a series of six break-ins on Beachwood Drive, Drag Lake. Officers were called to an alarm at a residence on May 26 at 11:15 p.m. Upon police arrival the suspects had left the area, and officers determined that the residence had been entered. Subsequent investigation led to the discovery of the five other break-ins nearby. Some of the stolen property includes two outboard motors, movie cassettes, a stereo, liquor, canned goods, bedding, and an axe. If you have information on these or any other crimes in this area please call the Minden O.P.P. office or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-563-8477.

Stolen Property

- 14 foot red and silver Springbok aluminum boat from under a cottage at Little Hawk Lake.
- 20 horsepower Johnson outboard motor from a cottage on 12 Mile Lake.
- 20 horsepower Mariner outboard motor from a residence on Beech Lake.

Found Property

A firearm was found near Minden last fall during hunting season and was turned in to the local O.P.P. If you own the firearm or know who does please contact Constable Boyd Jarvis.

Drive raises $16,000 in Haliburton County

The Canadian Cancer Society completed its annual campaign in Haliburton County, raising over $16,000 thanks to all the hard work and generosity of the area residents.

Minden Team Captain, Grace Dixon, expressed her sincere thanks to all the canvassers who were key to the high total. Dixon thanked Minden merchants, especially the staff at the TD Bank, for the daffodil sales. The Canadian Cancer Society is grateful for all donations.

Dixon has also reminded individuals that receipts will be issued by the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home for Canadian Cancer Society 'in memoriam' donations.

Time for Reform and PCs to get together

This same picture was repeated in the majority of Ontario's 103 ridings, which gave Jean Chretien his majority government again.

It is obvious that something has to be done before the next election to correct this patently unfair situation from repeating itself.

Certainly the Reform and Progressive Conservative parties will never amalgamate, but what they could do is sit down, in a friendly and sensible manner, and decide in which ridings they would not run a candidate in competition with the other.

Such action would certainly force the Liberals into a minority situation, if not outright defeat by either the Reform or PC parties.

Ontario is the key to who sits in Ottawa with more than one-third of the Federal MPs.

If they do not get together, we will have a Liberal government for the next 100 years, and obviously 66% of the voters in our riding do not want this.

Bonjour!

Our branch gets busier every day and as usual our Ladies Auxiliary is doing a great job with delicious lunches plus all their other endeavours.

• A man dropped $50.00 on the motel clerk's desk. The clerk said, "I'm sorry sir, that will be $75.00."

"Why?" screamed the man. "Your sign advertises rooms for $50.00."

The clerk said the extra $25.00 was for food.

"But I never had any food!" he yelled.

The clerk said that was his fault because the food was his for the taking.

Disgustedly he threw the extra money down, then he bellowed at the clerk that he owed him $100.00.

"What for?" said the clerk.

"For fooling around with my wife," yelled the customer.

"But, but I never touched her," he pleaded.

"That's your fault," said the guy. "She was yours for the taking!!"

This month's profile

Ethel Baker -

a.k.a. Mighty Mouse

Ethel Baker was born in Toronto on Gerrard Street - East End. She is the twin to her sister Edith and has four brothers and four sisters.

The family moved to London when she was four and back to Toronto when she was nine to Gerrard Street. Ethel attended Kimberly Public School and moved to Kinsale at age 16. Ethel worked on a farm as a nanny for a year then went to Toronto and worked for Richies Dairy.

Her folks moved to Pickering Village and Ethel went home on weekends and met her husband, Wesley Baker.

Wes joined the army and was sent to Nanaimo, B.C. and within a year he was transferred back to Toronto and they got married. Ethel and Wes raised five children - three girls and two boys. Ethel worked for S.E.F. for two and a half years. Wes was transferred to Trenton. Wes was an assessor for Toronto so Ethel had to quit her job.

Wes and Ethel moved back to Pickering Village and Wes worked for the Scarborough Board of Education and Ethel got a job at Quality Records where she worked for four and a half years when she had to quit because of health problems. After a couple of years, she went back to work for A.B.F. Printers on Eglington Avenue as an Ashton Folder operator until they moved to Rexdale.

Ethel and Wes bought a farm house and Ethel stayed home and did renovations. Ethel's dad showed her how to do carpentry work. Wes never knew what to expect when he got home.

Wes and Ethel had a cottage on Outlet Bay - Drag Lake and sold it in 1968. They bought land on the Drag River, near Gelert, which they turned into a home. They retired in 1982 and moved to Minden.

Ethel has 16 grandchildren and lost a granddaughter in October 1994. She also has 10 great-grandchildren - losing one in October 1994. Wesley passed away May 5, 1994 - it was not a good year.

Ethel is active in the Haliburton Knitters, First Vice President of Branch 636 Ladies Auxiliary, and on the Executive of R.C.L. Branch 636. She just resigned as President of Minden 636 Seniors after serving for two years, where she did an excellent job. She is presently quilting for the Minden 636 Seniors.

P.S. Ethel is more fondly known as "Mighty Mouse" by all her secret admirers, including me. It's a name befitting her because of all her energy.

Haliburton Health Unit representative Anne McCracken presents Wilberforce Public School principal Rosie Kenney with a certificate of distinction and a cheque for $100 following the school's participation in the Daily Activity Challenge.

Wilberforce students are movers

Wilberforce Public School was recently honoured for its participation in the Daily Physical Activity Challenge '97.

The Challenge was sponsored by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit and encouraged teachers and students to take time each day to become more physically active. The students at Wilberforce eagerly took up the Health Unit challenge and had the highest number of students participating (per capita) in Haliburton County.

The Challenge required an average of 30 minutes of physical activity per day, from October to April.

Classes that were involved in the Challenge were presented with certificates of participation by Health Unit representative Anne McCracken. Mrs. Cindy Rowden and Mrs. Rosie Kenney's kindergarten class, Mrs. Diana Sheridan's grade one/two class and Mrs. Janice Benoit and Mrs. Dianne Hagerman's grade three/four class were all rewarded for their involvement.

In addition to the certificates for the individual classes, the school received a certificate of distinction and a cheque for $100 to be used for the purchase of equipment that may be used for physical activity.

Mrs. Kenney announced that the money they received from the Health Unit was going to be combined with part of the proceeds from the Jump Rope for Heart Campaign. The money will then be spent on equipment that the school normally wouldn't be able to afford.

High school students visit home for special presentation

On Monday, May 26 we had a meeting for our volunteers. Guest speaker was Donna Macintosh who spoke on "Alzheimer's". Joining our volunteers were a group of students from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Our thanks to Donna for an excellent presentation.

During our happy hour on May 30 we were entertained by C & M Musicians.

Over the weekend, a few of us paid some visits to family. Murial Harrison and Nina Prentice went to the family farm for a home cooked meal. Judy Stevenson visited her mother and Peggy Packer went home over Saturday night.

While voting was taking place here on June 2, most of us took advantage of the beautiful weather and participated in a "Walk-A-Bout". The Salvation Army visited us in the afternoon for our monthly get together.

On Tuesday we had a visit from Marion Vanderlin. Marion is an R.N. and used to work in our home. It was good to see her again.

Our bus trip on Wednesday took us to Big Hawk Lake and the old log chute there. We had a full bus for this trip, and of course, our routine stop after for our much loved ice cream. Bingo followed in the evening.

Happy birthday to Lola Prentice, 93 years on June 11. We would also like to extend a warm welcome to Edna McElwain to our home. Alice Hopper is back with us for her vacation.

We have just learned that Hazel Austin has been ill recently. Hazel, once an employee here, now volunteers. Get well soon, Hazel.

Congratulations to Janet Donnelly who has successfully completed "Activation Techniques in Gerontology". Janet travelled back and forth to Barrie for this course during the last 18 months. She sure had some 'fun' weather at times for travelling. Janet scored high marks. We believe she deserves our recognition.

Our tea party on the afternoon of June 5th, was served by Minden Bible Church. Thank you ladies.

At the time of writing this, some of our residents are busy planting their individual gardens, with the help of the much appreciated volunteers. We would also like to thank the person who dropped off the three flats of plants at the front of our home. Whoever you are, thank you so much for your kindness, it was much appreciated. While we are on the subject of gardening we would appreciate any donations of perennials. Our garden, especially at our front entrance, is quite bare. Perhaps, in the fall, when you are thinning out your perennials, please think of us.

We are looking forward to our "Pen Pal Barbecue" on June 11. This event brings the residents and children involved in the "Pen Pal Programme" together one last time for the current year.

Before we sign off, a happy father's day to all you Dads out there and a reminder for the Strawberry Tea on June 28.

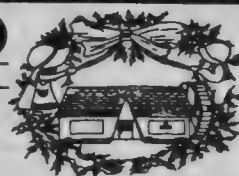

Have a good week and keep smiling.

Congratulations to Gladys Dugan of Lochlin who celebrated her 95th birthday on June 1. It was also Gladys and Jim's 65th wedding anniversary. They spent a lovely and enjoyable day visiting family and friends who helped them celebrate these 2 very special occasions.

There is a strawberry tea and bake sale at the Hyland Crest Seniors Citizen's Home from 2-4 p.m. on Saturday, June 28. Be sure to get an early start for fear everything is sold before you get there. In addition, there will be a white elephant table and a draw for gourmet

We all love to trace our roots at one time or another and there's no better time to start than this Wednesday, June 11 at the Haliburton Highlands Genealogy Group meeting starting at 7 p.m. in the Minden Library.

Promise yourself to be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

The annual Timbersport Championship is being held this Saturday, June 14 on the main street of Minden. Volunteers are needed again this year to make sure it is successful. If you are interested in helping, please attend the meeting on Wednesday, June 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal office. They need help setting up, time keeping, cleanup etc. and it's such a wonderful event that you can't help but want to get involved.

And while one member of the family is either watching or helping at Timbersport the other member can easily slip over to the County Town Museum and Pioneer Centre to pick up some delectable items from their annual garage sale.

WOW! Was I impressed while walking my dog recently. The town has poop and scoop signs up. Way to go guys! I'm sure people just need a little reminder now and then to do just that and not to litter.

St. Paul's Friendship Club met last Monday, as usual, for euchre and a good time. Fern Donnelley won the 50/50 draw while Nancy Gayton and Verna McDonald won the high scores and Helen Lee the most lone hands. Meet Mondays at 1:30 p.m. - everybody welcome.

Contract bridge is played weekly in the Stanhope Firefighters Hall and last week they actually bid and made a grand slam. Who did it? No, not some visiting world champions but our very own Betty Dicker and Earl Hayne. During that play Betty Culley came in first, Betty Dicker second and Wynne Hansen third. Meet every Tuesday starting at 1 p.m. Everyone welcome--partners are not required.

Also in the Stanhope Firehall every Wednesday night from 7 p.m. we have bid euchre. On May 28 Grace Dixon got an impressive 327 followed by Pat Scadden 287, Norm Lee 284, Ken Young 275, Olive Jones 253 and Katie Parker 250. They also managed to come up with 9 moonshots that night. Join them anytime and test your mettle.

Results of the euchre games that went on in the Minden Legion on May 29 were pretty impressive too. Jean Scadden and Marcel Roussel had the most lone hands, Marie Dennie and John Malton the high scores, May Bradbury and Al Cooper the low scores. Other prizes were also presented to Jim Bradbury, Marg McAfee, Milton Fletcher, Vivian Anderson and Norm Lee. Meet Thursdays at 7:15 p.m.

While everyone is out enjoying card games around the county don't forget that Rotary has bingo for you bingo lovers in the Minden community centre on Tuesday nights starting at 7 p.m. followed by Lions bingo on Thursday nights.

HEALTH NEWS:

(the last of "whats wrong with the typical diet series")

If you start watching a little more carefully what you eat, that is eating low or no fat foods and enjoying some regular exercise you should lose 2.2 pounds (1kg) every 10 days to 2 weeks. This may not sound like much, but it is a safe weight-loss pace which will allow you to keep the weight off in the long run. Remember that each pound of fat represents 3500 calories (each kg represents 7700 calories). If you want to lose 1 kg of fat per week, then you will have to burn 7700 more calories of energy than the amount you consume. That is a lot of calories but the only good way to lose weight is "slowly but surely". If you begin losing weight with miraculous speed, you will burn out long before you reach the finish line.
